CITY PROUD OF RECORDS SET BY LOCAL LADS

Home Extension Rally Day

"Why doesn't the Upper Peninsula secede from Michigan and join the State of Wisconsin?" C. W. Brown, publisher of a weekly newspaper at Oconomowoc, Wisconsin, taunted us with this inquiry. We happened to be members of a board of directors and were visiting together at the Commodore Hotel in New York City last June 29 and 30. He continued:

"My friends in the Upper Peninsula tell me they are not getting a fair deal from Lansing and are forever being neglected. This area is right next to Wisconsin. Its people trade in Milwaukee and other cities. It is logical that they should be a part of Wisconsin, not Michigan."

We relate this conversation because our mail has been running heavy with clipped editorials and personal comment, most of them approving our observation that the U. P. is lagging behind the lower Peninsula in state highways and state parks.

Harold Earle, president of Stanley Park, writes: "There is no question but that the development of the Upper Peninsula has been retarded by a lack of improved highways. . . . There really is not much point in improvement of state parks until they are made accessible by good roads. Even our two main U. P. highways connecting the principal larger communities are not yet completed."

Mr. Earle adds: "All during the past week people stopping at Stanley Park have reported having to wait from two to four hours to get a boat either way between St. Ignace and Mackinaw City. Apparently, inadequacy of the ferry service is to become a common and chronic condition."

Frank J. Russell, Jr., editor of the Iron Mountain News and Marquette Mining Journal, observed: "With the exception of US-41 and US-2, the U. P. has nothing to boast about in the way of good roads. For the most part the network of secondary roads is pitifully inadequate and is a deterrent to tourist travel." He proposes an Upper Peninsula highway conference for co-ordinated, concerted action.

Linwood I. Noyes, editor of the Ironwood Daily Globe, suggests that Gogebic and Ontonagon Counties should work together, through their county and municipal governments, chambers of commerce and civic organizations, to get action from the state, particularly on the highway situation.

Mr. Noyes concludes: "If any additional proof of neglect of highways in the western part of the Upper Peninsula is needed, it is found in the fact that Ontonagon County is the only county in the state that does not have a single mile of concrete highway. This sort of neglect should not be permitted to continue for another generation."

Answers to Proposed Street And Highway Program Queries

Editor's Note — Following are a series of questions and answers on the proposed bond issue to pay for a city street graveling program and a widening program on US-27 (Cedar St.) from the AuSable River to M-78 (Lake Street). The questions were prepared by the Avalanche and were answered by City Manager George Granger.

1. When would the widening project on Cedar Street (US-27) be started and who would be in charge of the work?
2. Would the completed project help maintain a safer flow of traffic through the city?
3. What would the likely ordinance be as to parking on Cedar Street after widening project was finished?
4. Is it likely that the State and Federal governments might pay an equal share of this project?
5. Will the US-27 widening project bring the gutter up to the present sidewalks?
6. Would any present buildings or trees now along the proposed widening project have to be moved or eliminated?
7. Would the State Highway Department feel, in your opinion, that the widening project would aid the flow of traffic through the city to leave Grayling on US-27?

7. Yes. The State Highway Department has urged the city to co-operate on this project for the past two years. It is the opinion of the Highway Department safety engineer that this improvement would eliminate the bottle neck that now exists in Grayling on US-27.
8. How many blocks of other city streets would be prepared for blacktopping surface?
9. Approximately 40 blocks of city streets would be prepared for blacktopping surface.
10. When will this gravel program be accomplished?
11. The gravel for this project has already been acquired and the program will be started this fall.
12. How soon could a blacktopping program follow the gravel covering of the city streets that are in the plan?
13. A blacktopping program could not be started until the gravel has been placed on the streets and the gravel compacted. This means the blacktopping program could not be started before 1949.

rites Read For MARY J. MALCO

Final rites were read on Wednesday at 2 P. M., at the Sorenson Funeral Home for Mary Justine Malco, 80, of Frederic. Rev. Van Duynendyk officiated. Interment was in Oakwood Cemetery at Frederic.

Mrs. Malco passed away Monday, September 7, in Saginaw, following a six months illness. She was born to Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Knouse on August 14, 1867 in Ohio, where she lived for three years. The remainder of her life was spent in Michigan. She became the bride of James C. Leggett in Seville, Michigan, on November 20, 1885. She later married John Malco of Frederic. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Rose Cotter of Owosso and Mrs. Eva McIntyre of Grayling and six sons, Claude J. Leggett of Cheboygan, Lester H. Leggett of Reese, Alfred V. Leggett of Battle Creek, Frederick C. Leggett of Vandenberg and Addison B. and Edward L. Leggett of Saginaw. Eighteen grandchildren, three sisters and two brothers also survive.

Conservation Violations Losing Gamble

Fishing without a license was a losing gamble for 238 persons in July, when conservation officers arrested 526 persons for conservation law violations ranging from killing deer, ducks and rabbits to leaving fires unquenched on forest lands and keeping captive fawns. Total fines for the month were $4,412; costs $3,442; jail sentences 53 days.

2 Dore Machines At Chicago Show

Two Dore Wiro-Matics have been set up and will be in operation at the 1947 Machine Tool Show to be held in Chicago at the Dodge Chicago plant from September 17 to 26 inclusive. The machines are manufactured at the Dore Manufacturing plant here in Grayling.

Nearly 300 exhibitors will show over 2,000 items valued at $16 million in the 12 acres of floor space given over the nation's major show of machine tools. The local company will display and operate their two automatic wire straightening and cutoff machines and also many accessories.

Leaving Grayling this week end to establish headquarters for the Dore Company at the Palmer House in Chicago will be company president Maurice Dore, engineer Edwin LeButt, superintendent Basil Baker, foreman Frank Cassell and field engineer Scotty Sinclair.

The machines have already been set up and are ready to run in booth 34A that has been assigned to the local company. Large groups of foreign buyers are expected to view the gigantic show of the products of the American machine tool industry. Especially European buyers will swell the crowd in an effort to purchase machines to replace and replenish the manufacturing plants of that western continent. Letters have been received by the local company from interested buyers in England, Belgium, Holland and France. Many South American machine tool experts are expected too, especially from Brazil and Argentina.

League Playoff Game Sunday

Phil Keway, who is debating the signing of a Tiger or Yankee baseball contract, will take the mound against Lewiston here Sunday in one of the four league playoff games that are scheduled. Grayling is ready for the playoffs, Coach Willard Cornell says, and is out to win the trophy. All gate receipts go to league treasury to pay for a league banquet that is scheduled for Mio on October 4.

Four neutral umpires will act as umpires in chief in each of the four games with each club furnishing a base umpire. Comins entertains Roscommon while Fairview is at Mio and Roscommon City will move to Atlanta. All games are scheduled for 2:30 P. M.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Wells of down river, announce the engagement of their daughter, Luana Joyce, to LeRoy N. Mathews, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Mathews, of this city. The wedding will take place in December, when Mr. Mathews is released from the Navy. At present he is stationed at Port Huenene, California.

Kiwanis Club Notes

Colonel Roy C. Vandercrook, organizer of the Michigan State Police and political observer in Lansing for nearly fifty years told the members of the Kiwanis Club of Grayling at their regular meeting at Shoppenagons Inn last Monday evening that unless a solution is found to halt the ever-increasing growth of state government that a halt or reduction in the state tax picture is impossible.

"The problem of an ever increasing tax structure is not the result of a venal or corrupt government but the result of everyone and every community asking the state to shoulder more responsibility," said the speaker who was introduced by Probate Judge Ray F. Clement who was in charge of the program.

Col. Vandercrook traced the growth of government from the days of Governor Pingree in 1899 to the present day, citing that the state's budget in the days before the turn of the century rarely exceeded $10 million whereas today it is in excess of $200 millions.

The speaker said in his nearly fifty years of close contact with members of the State Legislature that he had found the men always striving to do a good job for the people of the State of Michigan and that the cases of graft were conspicuous because of the publicity and not because of frequency.

Lieut. Governor Charles Moore, Club President Robert Strong, Vice President Arthur Clough, Secretary Emil Giegling, Earl Burns and Geo. Burke attended the Charter Night of the Marion Kiwanis Club in that City Tuesday evening as representatives of the Grayling club. Lieut. Gov. Moore served as toastmaster at the meeting and banquet.

The next regular meeting of the club will be a joint inter-club meeting with the Gaylord Kiwanis Club to be held Thursday evening, September 18 at the Waters Inn.

To Screen Hour-Long Army Football Film

A 6-reel, one hour-long movie on West Point championship football will be shown at the High School tonight (Thursday) at 8 o'clock. The movie will be free but contributions will be asked at the door to help offset the cost of acquiring the film to show here.

It was brought to the Grayling High School by Coach Willard Cornell in order that the squad of the Grayling Green Wave gridiron team could see how big time college football was organized and played.

Appearing in the film are Glen Davis, Doc Blanchard and Arnold Tucker, Army's All-American backs at their best. A lot of football action is promised with many of Army's last year's contests shown. The film contains considerable slow motion sequences showing how plays are set up and executed with the sound explaining the different formations.

It is a fine picture for football fans, Coach Cornell says and also for those who would like to know more about the game.

Enters Guilty Plea to Arson

Jesse E. Cook, 46, of Grand Rapids, Tuesday afternoon pleaded guilty to a charge of arson before Justice Emil Giegling. Bond was set at $2,500 and Cook was remanded to the Sheriff to face the October term of Circuit Court on the charge.

Cook, who has given a signed statement to the authorities, admitted that he entered an outside basement door of the "Offs Cook home at 905 Park Street late Saturday night and set a fire in the basement. He had a personal altercation with Mrs. Cook, was his explanation for the act.

He was arrested early Sunday morning by the Sheriff's department officers. The fire was first noticed at about 12:10 A. M. Sunday morning. The Grayling Fire Department was called and extinguished the blaze before any extensive damage was done. Mrs. Cook, who was home alone with her three children, heard a noise and on arising to investigate discovered the fire. Her husband is now living in Flint, where he is employed.

The confessed arsonist faces a maximum of 20 years in the State Prison for the act.

Also held at the County Jail is Hattie Richards, 20, as a parole violator. She was first sentenced to the Detroit House of Correction for a term of 1 to 5 years from Alpena. After being placed on parole, she was transferred to this county. She violated several parts of her parole and was picked up by the Sheriff to be returned to the Detroit institution. Her original sentence emanated from a morals charge involving a minor child.

NOTICE TO WOMEN BOWLERS

There will be a meeting of all members or would-be members of the Women's Bowling League, Friday evening, September 12, at 7:30 at the high school in Room 39. A full attendance is requested.

Wave Gridders Hard at Work

The gridiron squad of the Grayling Green Wave got down to real work this week as Coach Willard Cornell began body contact work following a week and a half of conditioning and fundamental practice.

A squad of 28 boys are working out each afternoon since September 2. Twelve former letter winners form a nucleus around which Coach Cornell hopes to build a strong machine. Smock, Douglas, Lozon, Krage, J. Rasmussen, Bielski, J. Feldhauser, C. Feldhauser, R. Miller, C. Papendick, E. Rasmussen and Burns are the letter winners. Reserves of last year who are hoped to develop into varsity material are McEvers, Parkinson, R. Rasmussen, Peterson, Trudeau, V. Papendick, Hanson, Crawford, E. Miller and Nielsen.

Six newcomers have brightened the coach's outlook by their play. They are: Sajdak from Detroit, Allison from Missouri and freshmen Worden, Goss and Richardson. Grayling opens their schedule against Pellston on September 19 which is but a week from Friday.

Coach Cornell has divided his squad into position groups but said that it was still early in the season and many changes would undoubtedly be made. At ends are R. Miller, C. Papendick, C. Hanson, E. Miller and Allison; tackles: Krage, Douglas, Bielski and J. Feldhauser; guards: Lozon, J. Rasmussen, E. Rasmussen, McEvers, Goss, Souders and V. Papendick; centers: Burns, Peterson and J. Feldhauser; quarterbacks: C. Feldhauser, J. Trudeau; halfbacks: Smock, R. Rasmussen, Parkinson and Richardson; fullbacks, Sajdak and Worden.

ATTENTION BOWLERS

All last year's team captains and sponsors and any other interested persons are asked to attend a bowling meeting at the Northwood Bowling Alley here at 7:30 P. M. Friday evening, League President Norman Bertil said today.

Between arrivals of the canoe teams spectators at Oscoda were entertained by a trapezoid between East Tawas and Oscoda teams, wet and dry fly casting exhibitions by Bert N. Johnson, of Oscoda and Bob Roach, of Tawas City, and archery and horseshoe pitching exhibitions.

Gordon Welcome, secretary of the Oscoda-AuSable board of commerce, announced the finish of the race over a public address system. The Oscoda High school band played aboard a large power boat, escorted each canoe to the finish line.

After a "briefing luncheon" Saturday noon at Shoppenagons Inn, here, the contesting canoeists, judges and other race officials paraded to the river behind the Grayling High School band. Prior to the start of the race, Nelson Grumley and Frank Scott, of the Bear Archery Co., Grayling, gave an archery demonstration, using regular hunting bows.

Ray Snyder, of Grayling, served as race starter while Jerome Kessler, Grayling, and Charles Hager, Mio acted as timers. Howard Brubaker, Oscoda, general chairman of the race committee, announced the race start over a public address system to the crowds assembled along the river banks and the US-27 highway bridge.

8 Other Local Men Awarded Cash Prizes

At 11 o'clock last Sunday morning, Grayling became the hometown of the canoe paddling champions of the State of Michigan when 28-year-old Allen Carr and 21-year-old Delbert Case pushed their magnesium canoe over the finish line in Oscoda after a tough and grueling 21 hour and 3 minute run from Grayling 240 miles upstream.

Jack Davis and Jay Stephan crossed the finish line only 24 minutes behind the first place winners to put Grayling way out in front of the other 21 communities who had teams entered. Albert Gierke and Arnold Hubbell added third place to the list and Bernard Fowler and James Wakeley glided over the line shortly after to annex the fourth place.

An Oscoda team, Hugh Bissonette and Gene LaVack grabbed fifth place to standoff a Grayling sweep of the prize list as Homer and Chris King came rolling in for sixth place.

Less than one-third of the starters finished yet of the Grayling group over 75 per cent crossed the finish line. The Grayling teams took $950 out of the total prize list of $1,000. From the talk on the streets and in the stores Monday and Tuesday it was clearly evident that the citizens of Grayling are puffed up near to bursting with pride for the neat, clean job the Grayling boys accomplished.

Already talk is rampant about the Second Annual Michigan Canoe Championship and local folks are planning how they can get better equipment for "our boys." Only a few objections were heard as to the manner in which the race was run off. One was that people should be held back from the portages during the night as they shone flashlights and car lights in their eyes. The light blindness last sometimes an hour some of the contestants said. Some other minor changes were suggested but all in all for the first race it went rather smoothly most observers said.

No serious mishaps were reported although a few canoes turned over after hitting sandbars in the darkness. Another canoe sprang a leak after hitting a rock and was forced from the race.

Radio-equipped conservation department cars and a department plane helped check on the contestants and report their positions. The department men manning the cars were ready at all times to render assistance in the case of an emergency.

The race winners, Carr and Case, left Grayling in 30th position. By the time they reached Alcona Dam, they had passed all other contestants and led the way from there into Oscoda. They were pushed all the way, however, by the second place team, Davis and Stephan.

Between arrivals of the canoe teams spectators at Oscoda were entertained by a trapezoid between East Tawas and Oscoda teams, wet and dry fly casting exhibitions by Bert N. Johnson, of Oscoda and Bob Roach, of Tawas City, and archery and horseshoe pitching exhibitions.

Gordon Welcome, secretary of the Oscoda-AuSable board of commerce, announced the finish of the race over a public address system. The Oscoda High school band played aboard a large power boat, escorted each canoe to the finish line.

Mrs. Lucille Morency Dies at Residence

Funeral services will be held Friday, September 12, at 9 A. M. at St. Mary's Church for Mrs. Lucille May Morency. Mrs. Morency, born in Ohio, February 13, 1869, passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Smith in Grayling on Monday, September 9.

Mrs. Lillian Beck is visiting in Rose City.

Party Marks Wedding Anniversaries

Dr. and Mrs. C. G. Clippert entertained close to fifty of their friends last Saturday evening with a dinner at Breaugh's on Houghton Lake following an afternoon of bridge and golf by some of the guests. The occasion was to celebrate the thirty-sixth wedding anniversary of Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Reppert and the seventh anniversary of their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hayes. A lovely wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom and over which was suspended a big bell, was served to round out a sumptuous meal, the first pieces being cut by Mrs. Reppert and Mrs. Hayes.

Before and following dinner group singing was enjoyed. A tribute composed by Mrs. A. M. Lewis was sung by the group as follows:

To our two great persons, Claude and Nora,
Our friends yesterday,
Today and tomorrow,
They have been by our side,
In our homes and health,
Disregarding any rate of wealth
They have been the kind
Like the salt of the earth.

Chamber Open Letter

September 10, 1947.

To the People of Grayling and Crawford County:

As the story goes, Mr. Frank Davis, Log Office, Bay City, was making the rounds of the Northeastern Michigan section last Spring with the question, "Why doesn't Michigan have more festivals to entertain its tourists?" In response to this Bob Strong and others dreamed of a big canoe race up the Manistee to Grayling and down the AuSable to Oscoda. To make the story brief, Chamber of Commerce officials from Grayling met with those from Oscoda and Mio and the First Michigan Canoe Championship Marathon evolved.

You will remember, business men, when not too long ago you were asked again for the often needed contribution. You gave. Oscoda business men gave. Mio and Tawas pitched in, too. This made it possible. Now that it is history and our Grayling boys showed us they are all that can be expected of canoeists, we ask, "Was your contribution of time or money a good investment?"

In other words, we in the Chamber of Commerce, are looking forward to the Second Annual Michigan Canoe Championship next September, and it is our hope that you will express to us as a group or to us individually what you think of the idea by your continued support.

We appreciate the assistance given by everyone, and we believe that the event went over greater than anticipated which is the best return one can receive on any investment.

We especially wish to thank Alfred Hanson who started the ball rolling with $50; Wes Kumpula and Ray Snyder for their every spare minute on the project; the Mayor, and other city government officials and employees for their help; Frank Davis and Bob Strong for a good job of selling; Roy Christian and the GHS band for the color they added; the Officers of the Michigan National Guard for the use of their Club House at Camp Grayling; the Bear Archery Co., for their first class demonstration; and last but the biggest thanks to the contestants from Grayling and other Michigan towns that really made the race a success.

John H. Peterson, Sec. Treas., Grayling Chamber of Commerce.

Were You Born In September?

Then, according to your horoscope, you are magnetic, refined and fond of the beauties of nature! Horoscopes are fun, whether or not we put any faith in them, and who isn't fond of the beauties of nature these late summer days?

Motorists driving in the country can enjoy nature better — and longer — if they will remember that a country road is not the place for speeding. Back roads are not as plainly marked as highways with warning signs, they are often narrow and twisting, with dangerous humps or washed out places. Sometimes there are straying farm animals on them.

Last year, speeding and driving on the wrong side of the road in rural areas brought death to some 7,600 persons, according to the National Conservation Bureau. Drive safely — and enjoy the country this September and in the years to come.

Selective Traffic Enforcement Has Proven
Its Value As An Accident Preventer

By T. P. SULLIVAN

President, International Association of Chiefs of Police, and Director, Illinois State Department of Public Safety.

The traffic officer who stops you for speeding isn't a perverse person who enjoys putting his foot on your running board and writing a ticket for your arrest. He has a job to do—the job of keeping you alive.

He would much rather face your anger over a major or minor violation than pick you up in a basket after an accident such as pictured above. He not only protects you from your own driving follies, whenever they are brought to his attention, but also saves you from exposure to the highly dangerous driving habits of others. He deserves your highest respect and fullest co-operation.

Last year on our roadways we killed 33,500 persons, injured 1,150,000 others and destroyed property valued at $750,000,000. It is obvious from these figures that enforcement of traffic laws is necessary. No matter how flawless a modern road system, and no matter how skillfully blended into it are other safety factors, the entire structure of traffic control still depends upon this important element.

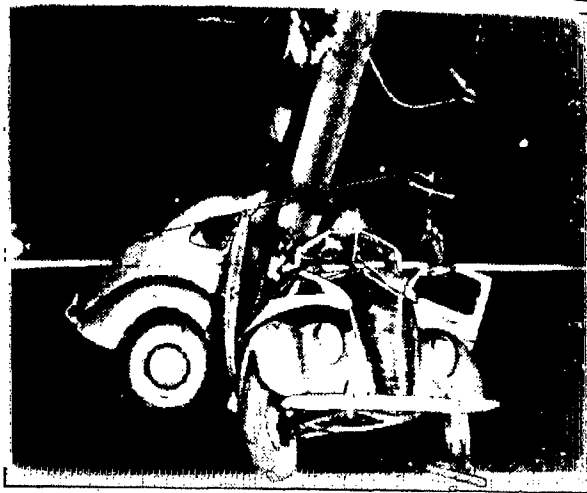

In every state or city where intelligent traffic law enforcement efforts have been coupled with public education and engineering, the traffic toll has dropped. By intelligent enforcement is meant that it is selective, that effort is expended in areas and times of high accident frequency, and that records of accidents are maintained in such a manner as to reveal peak accident periods. This, thanks to the pioneering efforts of the Traffic Division of the International Association of Chiefs of Police, the Northwestern University Traffic Institute, the National Safety Council, the National Conservation Bureau and other leading national organizations concerned with highway safety, is the current trend.

Traffic squads are no longer given pep talks and rushed into the vast grillwork of city streets. They are briefed as to what intersections are accident prone, what violations are causing the accidents and during what hours.

The modern officer will view a traffic violator not as a promising junior executive, a stable citizen or a competent and attractive woman, but as a potential killer. He has been trained that way. Violations identical with yours have killed persons, perhaps in the same spot, in recent days. That you did not cause an accident is not important. You might have caused one. Apprehending you and impressing you with the serious consequences resulting from this type of carelessness and disregard for the rules by which we must drive, is the officer's business. He grows more competent in it each year. He saves lives and should be supported and encouraged.

That selective enforcement is effective is proven by entries in the recent National Traffic Contest. Studies revealed that 39 per cent of the 500 reporting cities used selective enforcement, as compared with 22.5 per cent of the cities reporting in the 1945 contest.

Proof that the work of the officer you see curbing the motorist ahead of you is necessary is found in records of cities which have undergone reorganization of their traffic control programs with assistance of the IACP Traffic Division. Cincinnati's traffic deaths

Speeding through the night, the driver of this car was momentarily blinded by approaching headlights. Because he was going too fast to control his car instantly, he swerved off the highway and crashed into a telegraph pole with such force that the car was almost broken in two. He was dead when help arrived. National Conservation Bureau advises night-drivers to keep their eyes focused on the side of the road, never to look directly into headlights and—most important of all—to drive at moderate speed.

were brought down in three years from an annual toll of 129 to 73. In Memphis death dropped from 48 to 31 in the first year after their traffic functions were reorganized. In 1938 and 1937 Cleveland had 463 fatalities. The reorganization completed, Cleveland's toll was cut to a total of 245 in 1938 and 1939. More important, the rates stayed down. For example, Detroit experienced 2,971 deaths in the nine-year period ending January 1, 1937. The major phase of the reorganization work was completed in 1937. In the nine years since, Detroit has totalled 2,011 deaths. Its rate per 10,000 registered motor vehicles has gone down steadily, despite a marked increase in registration and motor vehicle use. Motor vehicle travel in the United States has multiplied six times in the last two decades. It is estimated that by 1956 vehicle registrations will increase approximately 45 million, with a probable 55 million by 1962.

Polio Precautions

Observance of special precautions this summer and fall may keep infantile paralysis from knocking at your door, especially if you live in an area where there is a polio epidemic, according to an outstanding medical authority, Dr.
Albert B. Sabin, Cincinnati, Ohio.
This doctor of medicine says you can help safeguard yourself and your family by making certain flies do not get on food either in the home or in the grocery store.
Flies are the villains in the infantile paralysis story because they carry polio germs, transmitting them to food when they alight
on it.

Because medical authorities have found relatively few polio cases spread by coughs and sneezes, there is little reason to close movies and churches during polio epidemics, according to Dr. Sabin.
However, public playgrounds and swimming pools should be closed during epidemics because they are congregating places for large groups of children.

A large number of children gathered at a playground or in the classroom is not dangerous in itself. The real danger for infantile paralysis infection comes when children are playing together,
shaking hands and using common sanitary facilities without adequate washing of hands, he says.

Dr. Sabin suggests that community authorities help prevent the spread of polio cases by preventing flies from breeding in creeks containing raw sewage and in sludge beds of metropolitan sewage disposal plants.

Doctors of medicine are working day and night to perfect a vaccine against polio. Until it is ready, following these precautions may keep you and your family from getting infantile paralysis.

Hufton is a former pastor of the Elsie Stapleton, who has worked out budgets for 30,000 individuals and companies, will talk. As "The Second Mrs. Burton" is a story of marriage and divorce, the feature is highly appropriate.

Elisha Cook Jr., of RKO's "Born to Kill," has a fine system. He makes four pictures a year, spends the rest of his time hunting and fishing in the High Sierras, where he has a small farm. While at work
he stays with friends in Hollywood, and his wife runs the farm. They're living as they like to live right now, instead of waiting till they're old
and gray to do it.

On June 2 Al Jolson will air "The Jazz Singer" on the Radio Theatre program on which he recently did "Alexander's Ragtime Band." In case you're too young to remember, that was the picture that helped make movie history — and Al.
Hardened movie critics who didn't believe that talking pictures would ever succeed came to sneer, and remained to applaud, thanks to Jolson.

Said Janis Paige to Michael North, "Bob Hutton married Cleatus Caldwell, Martha Vickers' hair-dresser got hitched, Angela Greene announced her engagement and Otto Kruger celebrated his 25th wedding anniversary while we all were making 'Love and Learn'." Said Michael, "I just finished 'The Unsuspected'—Joan Caulfield broke her jawbone, director Mike Curtiz' wife went to the hospital and Andrey Totter had two impacted wisdom teeth pulled—so look at the title before you go into a picture!"

Catherine McLeod faked piano playing so successfully in "I've Always Loved You" that most people thought she was actually playing.
So she's teaching Robert Paige to do the same thing on the organ in Republic's "The Outcast."

ODDS AND ENDS—For a scene
in "The Wallflower" Janis Paige wore a swim suit that glowed under water.
... Dana Andrews is the first yachtman on the West coast to arrange installation of a ship-to-shore telephone on his boat, an 80-foot ketch. ... "The Arthur Godfrey Talent Scouts" show
may send out vaudeville units similar to the old Major Bowes units. ...
Alan Ladd, who acquired a fine tan in Arizona, bought a sunlamp when he got home, the better to keep the tan with. ... Walter Slezak is co-starred in two RKO pictures, "Born to Kill" and "Rifraff."

Lack Funds
Central American countries are not unlike those on the continent as far as the Red Cross program is concerned, but, with the exception of Mexico, Cuba and San Domingo, are hampered by lack of funds.

Seek More Pine Cones

School children who helped boost last year's pine cone collection to 40 tons are being asked to co-operate again this month in the Conservation Department's drive for 3,000 bushels of red pine cones. The department is paying $5 a bushel for the red pine cones. This price is expected to interest professional pickers, but support of school children is needed if sufficient seed is to be brought in. Red pine seed is urgently needed for the Conservation Department's long range reforestation program, which still suffers from the war time suspension of nursery operations. The department must get red pine cones this fall for nursery seeding next year if the state land reforestation goal of 48,000,000 trees planted by 1954 is to be attained. In parts of the Lower Peninsula the department also is buying the more easily obtained white pine cones at $1.50 a bushel, up to a maximum of 1,200 bushels. No jack pine seed is needed at present. In the northern part of the Lower Peninsula red and white pine cones are being bought by

Forester Predicts Wildlife Famine

Michigan can expect a gradual and continual decrease of most types of wildlife, according to Paul A. Herbert, head of the forestry department at Michigan State college.

Forty years ago foresters were predicting a timber famine. Herbert points out. The years have proved those predictions correct. Today we can predict a wildlife famine with equal confidence, he believes. Most of the larger forms of wildlife of major interest to the tourist and hunter require cover and food of a kind that is rapidly disappearing in Michigan. Without such protective cover and food it is inevitable that a large part of the wild life will starve or be destroyed.

According to Herbert, clean farming and the increase in dairy farming reduce both food and cover of farm game animals and birds. On the non-agricultural areas which are growing up into dense forests the same reduction can be predicted because the species of trees that grow over most of Michigan do not produce much food for wildlife. The dense tree stands, as they grow older, shade out most of the plants that furnish both food and shelter to most kinds of forest wildlife.

A wildlife famine cannot be entirely avoided but it could be made much less severe if all persons connected with wildlife came to a realistic grip with the problem. Herbert believes this is unlikely and says, "My prediction of a wildlife famine within 40 years stands."

CHAPTER XIV

When two o'clock finally came and the last copy had gone down to the press, Johnny and J. D. lost no time in getting over to the lot. The men arrived just as they did and it would have given Johnny a great sense of satisfaction to see the men with their picks and shovels if he could have forgotten what was their mission.

Three hours later Pat's prediction materialized. The men had covered the entire ground—found that each new attempt they made was blocked by their enemy of solid rock. They were disheartened themselves that their labor had not produced results or even a chance of getting through the layer of rock. There was no way of telling how deep the bed
was. It was almost impenetrable.

There would have to be special machinery brought into the town for even the erection of the playground that needed a deep base and foundation for the swings, etc. But above it all the men felt J. D.'s and Johnny's disappointment and tried their best to encourage them with reminders that whatever they decided to do they would back them 100 per cent.

The men had gone and Johnny and J. D. were just leaving the place when Kit came by in Basil's car.
She stopped and motioned for them
to come over to the car.

"Hi!" she called as they walked toward her. "Why those long sober faces, you two? I thought you'd be all smiles. I just saw the men with their shovels going home. Have they started already? The house isn't even torn down yet!"

Johnny came up to the car on one side, J. D. on the other. "There isn't going to be anything to start, Kit,"
J. D. said slowly.

Kit looked at him in surprise.
"Whatever do you mean, J. D.?"
She looked at Johnny for confirmation.

"But why—it's all settled, I thought. Have you changed your mind after you bought the place?"
She couldn't believe they were serious.

"No, something changed it for us."
He leaned against the car and explained the whole situation to her.

"But, Johnny, that's awful!" She looked back at J. D. "What will you do about the house?"

"The house?" J. D. asked as if that had been the first he had thought of owning the house. "Oh
... we can sell it easy enough. I suppose."

"Yes, I suppose," she agreed.
Then remembering how they had told Jackie Murphy of their plans and had brought him past the place and painted the bright picture of the playground for him, she asked,
"What will we tell Jackie? By now every kid in town probably knows about it. What will we tell them, Johnny?" Her eyes looked to his for help.

"What can we tell them ... now?"
he answered bitterly.

They were silent for a few minutes, each busy with his own thoughts. Then finally Johnny spoke.
"Something bigger than any of us
is against the park—and no matter what we do—we'll be stopped! And why? Because we want to see some poor kids get an even break in life—because we tried to give them a little fun out of life before—"
He doubled his fists at his side.

J. D. looked at his son. It wasn't Johnny who was defying the Power that he firmly believed in; it was a young man that had lived with disappointment and was growing bitter. He interrupted his son. "Johnny—It's just that once in a while things get in our way—and after we get around them we usually find we're better men for the opposition. You'll see—everything will turn out all right, son." He opened the door of the car and got in beside Kit. "Now I'm sure that the owner of the car would object if you dropped us off down at the Clarion, so will you?" He smiled a broad grin at Kit.

"I certainly will." She reached over and kissed J. D. on the cheek.
"You're just about the nicest guy
I know of!" she smiled at him.

Johnny came around the car and got in beside J. D. She started the car but instead of going in the direction of the Clarion she turned and headed the other way.

"Remember, young lady, there's a law about kidnapping in this state," J. D. warned.

She kept her eyes on the road ahead, not looking at them when she spoke. "Look—we're going to Martindale, we three, and we're going to see Grandmother Martin; no-body's home right now but she and the servants and something tells me she'll talk to you about the park. I may be wrong but—we'll see."

She took it gratefully and draped it over her, the length of it covering her completely from head to feet.

She opened the door, as did Johnny and made a dash for the parquetry of the entrance. Johnny stood out of the arc of light, close behind the shrubbery. He heard her ring the bell and Thomas' approaching footsteps. At that moment he thought he heard another sound and looked down the hill toward the clump of bushes where he had fought with Jerry Murphy two months before.

He thought he saw the bushes move,
but narrowing his eyes and looking at them more closely and seeing them motionless, he decided that it had been a trick of the rain and dismissed the idea.

When Johnny and Kit had gotten out of the car, J. D. moved closer to the window to see better what was going to happen. Before he got settled where he could keep an eye on them, however, he saw that he could look in the front window of

however, when she pulled up beside the house and stopped before she came to the entrance of the house.

"Now how about this?" She turned to the two of them beside
her. "

MICHIGAN

Believes in Not Letting Epidemics Happen

Michigan communities seldom make the headlines with tragic stories of disease epidemics. Such scourges have been practically eliminated in Michigan — because the medical doctors of Michigan were among the first in the country to advocate preventive immunization. Today, in Michigan, immunizing against specific diseases is taken for granted as the enlightened way of not letting epidemics happen. However, the cooperation of the people in your community is the most important factor in the success of this medical program, especially in immunizing school children against certain diseases.

VETERAN'S NOTICE

September 5, 1947
"The State of Michigan, 64th Legislature, regular session of 1947, enacted Act 308 of the Public Acts of 1947, establishing an emergency hospitalization program within the administration of the Michigan Veterans' Trust Fund, Board of Trustees, effective July 1, 1947.

A similar program had been administered by the Office of Veterans' Affairs prior to July 1st. However, because of legislative approval of the above-mentioned Act, previous sources of revenue to that agency for utilization in emergency hospitalization were eliminated, and $100,000 from the earned income of the Veterans' Trust Fund was set aside to be used by the Board of Trustees in establishing an emergency hospitalization program. The $100,000 represents less than one-third of the amount expended under the emergency hospitalization program conducted by the Office of Veterans' Affairs during the immediate past fiscal year. It is anticipated the $100,000 fund would be inadequate to administer the program on a state-wide basis during the fiscal year of 1947-48 and the Board of Trustees has determined that counties who have been allocated $10,000 or more for the period July 1, 1946 through June 30, 1947, will process applications and invoices for emergency hospitalization in accordance with their usual procedure of granting and to eligible veterans and will utilize their regular allocations to meet emergency hospitalization needs. Counties such as Crawford County, whose allocations were less than $10,000 for this same period, will for the time being, submit emergency hospitalization cases for payment to the state office from the appropriated $100,000 fund.

If the veteran and/or his or her dependents are eligible to receive assistance from the Michigan Veterans' Trust Fund in accordance with definitions already established and if the hospitalization is emergent, the applicant is likewise eligible to make application for assistance from the emergency hospitalization fund.

An emergency is considered to exist when the lack of immediate hospitalization would seriously endanger the veteran's and/or his or her dependents' life or health and when the emergency requires funds beyond the applicant's ability to pay from earnings, accumulated savings, or insurance. Normal pregnancy or parturition care is not given to female veterans or to dependents of male veterans.

Crawford County Commission of Michigan Veterans' Trust Fund is composed of Leo E. Lovely, Willard Harwood and Bob Neale.

WEDDING RECEPTION HELD

A wedding reception was held for Mr. and Mrs. Ervin D. Nelson at the home of her foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Skingley, Friday evening, September 5, at 8 o'clock. The home was attractive with a profusion of fall flowers. Refreshments were served in the garage house which was decorated with red and white roses and greenery.

There were two archways and bowers of roses and greenery also. A large silver and white bell was suspended from the ceiling of greenery and roses. This was over the large wedding cake, which was decorated with white doves and pink rose buds, centered on a lace covered table and guarded by tapers and green and white crystals.

A buffet lunch was served to over thirty friends and relatives present from Lansing, Gaylord, Detroit and Grayling.

The wedding took place earlier in the afternoon at the home of the bride's grandfather.

The bride wore a floor-length white crepe gown trimmed with silver sequins and a three-quarter length veil held in place by a pearl beaded tiara and orange blossoms. Her flowers were white gardenias and roses. Her attendant was attired in a pale blue taffeta and white net floor-length gown and her corsage was of pink rose buds and white baby mums.

The bride's uncle, Mr. Bywater of Lansing, was the groom's attendant.

Mrs. Skingley chose an all over lace dress of tea rose and her flowers were baby roses and mums.

The newlyweds will live in Cadillac, where the groom has employment.

Margaret Murray Bride of Chas. Wylie

Margaret Murray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David E. Murray, spoke her vows to Charles Scott

Wylie of East Lansing, son of Mrs. Vera Goshorn of Grayling at rites at St. Mary's Chapel Saturday morning, September 6, 1947. The Very Rev. Joseph E. Guertin officiated at the ceremony in the presence of 50 guests.

On the altar were candelabra and arrangements of pink and white gladioli and other garden flowers. The side pedestals held similar flower arrangements.

The Wagner and Lohengrin wedding marches were played as processional and recessional by Mary Denise Heenan, cousin of the bride. Irene White sang "Ave Marie" by Pietre Yon and "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother."

The bride was attended by her cousin, Mrs. Paul Schuette of Manitowoc, Wis., as matron of honor. Carl Wall of Plymouth was Mr. Wylie's best man. Lawrence Wylie of Grayling, the bridegroom's brother, and Leonard Murray of St. Ignace, cousin of the bride, seated the guests.

The bride's suit of beige with smoky pearl buttons was complemented by a large brown felt hat and brown accessories. She wore a necklace of two shades of gold, a gift of the bridegroom, and her French bouquet of sweetheart roses and gypsophila was tied with brown ribbons.

Mrs. Schuette wore a gray wool crepe suit with a matching hat and black accessories. Pink and blue garden flowers formed her French bouquet which was tied with blue ribbons.

Mrs. Murray chose a navy blue dressmaker suit for her daughter's wedding. Her hat was navy and her corsage of red roses.

Immediately following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to 24 guests at the Murray home, 322 East Spruce Street. The tables were covered with white cloths and held silver goblets and arrangements of white flowers in silver holders. At the bride's table, a three-tier wedding cake in white and pink formed the centerpiece. On top was a miniature replica of the bride's bouquet.

Mrs. Wylie wore a taupe crepe dress and a matching hat with a white feather when the couple left for their wedding trip in Northern Michigan. Her purse and coat were green and her corsage of pink rubrum lilies.

They will return to East Lansing on September 11 and will be at home after October 1 at an apartment on East Grand River in East Lansing where Mr. Wylie, a graduate of Grayling High School and Olivet College, is manager of the Campus Book Store. Mrs. Wylie was graduated from Loretto Academy in this city and the College of St. Catherine in St. Paul.

Present from out-of-town for the ceremony were Mrs. Virginia J. Bagnum, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Y. Johnson, Miss Elizabeth Burwell Johnson and Willis Headley, all of Louisville, Ky.; Lawrence Wylie of Grayling; Carl Wall of Plymouth; Mr. and Mrs. David Murray of Green Bay, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schuette of Manitowoc, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. John Dunlap of East Lansing; Miss Irene Murray, Miss Eva Murray and Leonard Murray, all of St. Ignace; Sault Ste.
